

Swiss Structured Products Association (SSPA) media release:

Marex joins SSPA as a new member and issuer

The Swiss Structured Products Association (SSPA) welcomes Marex as a new member and issuer. With the addition of another global player being present in Switzerland, the SSPA further strengthens its membership base. Its network now numbers 45 members across the entire value creation chain, from issuers to trading platforms and buy-side to brokers and partners.

Zurich – 22 June 2023. Marex joins as a new member and issuer of the SSPA, the association of structured products in Switzerland representing over 95 percent of the country's market volume.

The diversified global financial services platform Marex is headquartered in London and maintains more than 30 offices around the world with over 1,800 employees. Across its businesses, Marex provides services in agency execution, market making, clearing and, hedging and investment solutions (Marex Solutions). Marex Financial Products, a specialist team of Marex Solutions, designs, structures, hedges and distributes customisable investment products under their own issuance programme to Private Banks and Wealth Managers with their proprietary trading platform, Agile.

Joost Burgerhout, Head of Marex Financial Products, on becoming a member of the SSPA: "We are delighted to join the SSPA as a globally diversified financial services platform. The exchange with Swiss and international structured products experts will contribute to the advancement of the whole industry. I look forward to constructive discussions with the SSPA's fellow members across the value creation chain."

SSPA expands its membership base to 45

Now numbering 45 members, the SSPA represents the interests of the key players in the market for structured products in Switzerland. SSPA Chairman Markus Pfister on the new member: "I am looking forward to having Marex as a member in our association. The international expertise of its team will greatly contribute to the knowledge exchange within the SSPA."
